

SAFETY SELF-AWARENESS TRAINING WORKSHOPS

SAFETY SELF-AWARENESS WORKSHOPS HELP PARTICIPANTS UNDERSTAND HOW THEIR PERSONALITY CAN CAUSE SAFE OR UNSAFE ON-THE-JOB BEHAVIORS. INDIVIDUAL AND GROUP EXERCISES CHALLENGE THEM TO TAKE A PROACTIVE AND PERSONAL APPROACH TO SAFETY RISK REDUCTION.

AVAILABLE IN TWO SEPARATE COURSES:

FOR FRONT-LINE WORKERS: BUILDING SAFETY SELF-AWARENESS

This session provides participants with a practical method for reducing preventable incidents by first understanding what causes them to behave unsafely on the job in times of stress or increased risk. Course includes the SafeSELF™ Personal Action Plan.

FOR SUPERVISORS: MANAGING SAFETY SELF-AWARENESS

This session helps supervisors understand how personality contributes to preventable incidents by teaching how to communicate effectively with individual workers and facilitate their Safety Self-Awareness to become safer and more productive and compliant employees.

Contact Julie at +61 414 557 415 or julie@irsafety.com.au

WHY CHOOSE THIS COURSE?

This is not traditional safety training. Instead, it is focused around behavioral safety and risk-tolerance attitudes in the workplace, backed by individual results from the Safety Quotient™ Personality-Risk Assessment.

Participants Learn

- An understanding of the causes of human error as it relates to safety
- How to identify, recognize and how to prevent incidents from occurring
- How leaders influences crew safety behaviors
- How leadership style can be tailored to reduce risk of crew incidents

Course Agenda

- 1 Industry stats on human error
- 2 Psychology of behavioral safety and risk tolerance
- 3 Research & case studies on personality-risk assessment
- 4 SafeSELF Personal Action Plan
- 5 Individual and group exercises

WHAT IS SAFETY QUOTIENT™?

The Safety Quotient™ is a psychometric tool being used by forward-thinking companies around the world as a leading indicator of incidents. The SQ™ is proven to reduce incidents by 10-25% in most companies. After completing the online assessment, each participant will receive one or both of the following reports, depending on which program they are enrolled in:

The SQ™ Employer Report provides data on individual workers as well as group analytics. It:

- Illustrates which workers are more likely to be rule-resistant, distractible, impulsive, irritable, and more.
- Give leaders practical, actionable advice for coaching “Higher-Risk” employees.

The SQ™ Participant version of the report includes a SafeSELF Personal Action Plan for self-awareness and changing one’s own behaviors

Contact Julie at +61 414 557 415 or julie@irsafety.com.au